ARE YOU AN ARTIST?

Are you ready for more advanced art training? Ryman Arts offers a free advanced studio art program that is designed to help you achieve your dreams by strengthening your art skills and preparing you for college and a career in art.

COURSES:

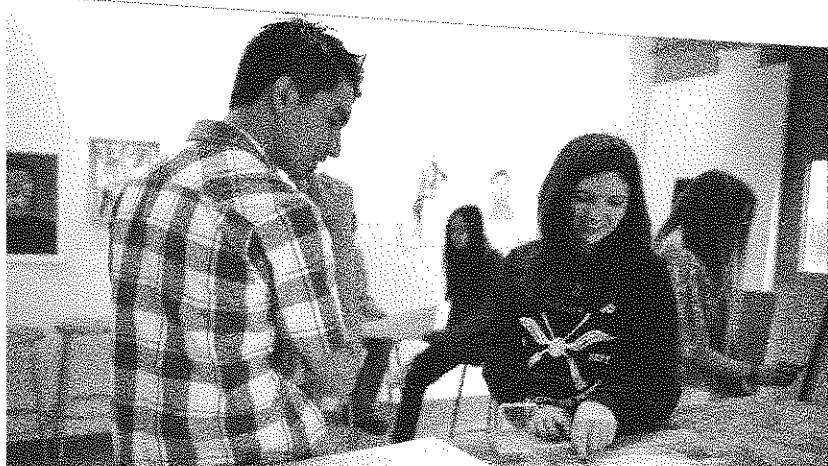

Ryman Arts offers three sequential courses: Foundation Drawing, Intermediate Drawing & Painting, and Advanced Painting. All students start with Foundation Drawing and may reapply for the following levels upon the completion of each semester

Foundation Drawing Class sponsored by DreamWorks Animation focuses on drawing technique and composition, and includes an introduction to figure drawing.

IF ACCEPTED, YOU WILL...

- Learn foundation drawing and painting skills in rigorous classes to develop your talent
- Work with professional teaching artists in small classes with other serious art students
- Build your portfolio for college applications and exhibit your work publicly
- Explore options for a life in the arts through discussions with guest artists, museum field trips, and college planning workshops

LOCATIONS:

Saturdays at California State University, Fullerton, or on Sundays at Otis College of Art & Design, in Los Angeles.

CLASS TIMES:

9:00 am to 12:30 pm or 1:00 pm to 4:30 pm.

COST:

All classes are free of charge. If selected, you will receive a full scholarship that covers the cost of instruction, art supplies, and field trips. Public transportation reimbursement is available.

ELIGIBILITY:

Application to the program is open to all students enrolled in high school grades 9 – 12.

The Ryman Arts application process is competitive, with an acceptance rate around 50%. A committee reviews all applications, scoring them on multiple criteria (primarily evidence of skill and motivation). Ryman Arts strives to create a diverse class of students from schools throughout Southern California.
