

“

[This experience] taught me to trust myself and my aspirations fully and to completely have confidence in myself in order to achieve success.

”

- Vana Mirzakhani, Burbank High School

Are you interested in STEM?

The American Heart Association's Go Red for Women movement presents STEM Goes Red!

During this year-long program, participants selected from high schools across Los Angeles County will have opportunities to learn about their potential future in science, technology, engineering, math, and media, with an emphasis on health, from today's business professionals and leaders.

Join STEM Goes Red, a program that will show you the impact that you can make through STEM. The goals of STEM Goes Red is to:

- Meet and engage with female STEM leaders through mentorship, job shadows and events
- Explore the possibility of pursuing a STEM degree in higher education
- Discover pathways and learn what a career in STEM, with emphasis on healthcare and science, looks like
- Gain access to tools and resources for health and wellbeing

The online application for 2020 is now open

2020 STEM Goes Red Application

American Heart Association.

Contact Marissa Fortuno at marissa.fortuno@heart.org or 213-291-7052 for more information.

Application for the 2020 Spring STEM Goes Red Program due Jan 15

Program will begin in Feb 2020

